THEY WILL MOVE.

RYAN & JOSEPH COMPELLED TO SEEK LARGER QUARTERS.

They Will Move Into the Model Building, Corner Michigan and Garro Streets About December 1st.

It has been apparent to the observing for some time that the steadily increasing business of Ryan & Joseph was growing to such magnitude that it could not long continue in the building at present occupied by that enterprising firm. The fact has been no more apparent at any one than it has to Ryan & Joseph themselves. The additions to stock which they have found necessary from time to time have so filled up the old store room as to be all out of proportion to the facilities for displaying goods and to greatly impede the easy and convenient transaction of business. With goods stacked up high on all the counters and goods packed closely in boxes under all the counters the necessity of having more room has grown from day to day.

The business conditions of this city are such that suitable business rooms have not been easy to procure and it has been a problem with Ryan & Joseph for some time how to best meet the imperative demand of their business for better facilities for its transaction. This problem has now been solved by the conclusion of negotiations with T. Mattingly with a view to the occupancy of the Model building. Messrs. Ryan & Joseph are to be complimented on this move and the prosperous condition of their business which has made it a necessity. It will give them not only plenty of room but an excellent location convenient alike for city and country trade and there is no doubt that their success of the past will continue with large future increase.

The matter of sewerage and tiling was then taken up and a motion was made by Tanner, seconded by O'Keefe, that the sewer committee be instructed to proceed to file a ditch across Liberty street. Carried. A motion was made by Tibbets and seconded by O'Keefe to appoint Bailey, Greninger and Maxey a special committee to report on Bissel's plat. Carried.

"Don't Press This Button."

A young man in a city some distance from Plymouth, was troubled with a carbuncle on the back of his neck. As the visitor was very painful, and wishing to notify his numerous friends who had a mania of slapping him upon the back when they met him, took the precaution to place a label across his back bearing this appropriate admonition "Don't Press This Button."

TRIBUNE A CUTTER.

Has Again Reduced Its Price and is Now Delivered in Chicago at 6 Cents per Week.

When a great metropolitan newspaper of large volume and wide circulation cuts its price to one half and offers for one cent that for which it has been receiving two, it is a matter for extensive comment. It is a matter of public interest, for the newspaper of today is one of the invaluable commodities. The public must have it to keep peace with the doings and progress of modern times.

The Chicago Tribune was issued in Chicago this morning as a penny paper with a circulation increased largely over what it was a day or two ago. This is the third time in the Tribune's history that it has reduced its subscription price and it claims to be the pioneer among the great dailies in the matter of cheapening the product of its office to the people without cheapening its quality. Its reduction has been from five cents to three cents, from three cents to two cents and now from two cents to one cent per copy for week day issues.

This is a liberal and commendable winning policy on the part of the Tribune which is shown by the fact that 25,000 new subscriptions were received at the Tribune office yesterday and there is no doubt that other great dailies must soon follow in a like reduction in price.

November Weather.

Following is Hicks' forecast for the rest of this month: "About the 8th and 9th a reactionary swing of the elements will bring progressive change to lower barometer, warmer, with rain and snow and much tendency to general storminess. Another rise of barometer, with cold westerly winds, will follow from about the 9th to 12th.

About the 12th general fall of the barometer in western sections will induce easterly to southerly winds, resulting in change to much warmer. Active and blustery winds, will blow over most regions with storms of rain, turning to snow in many sections during the 13th to 16th.

Falling barometer and change to warmer, with autumnal storms, will center about the 19th to 20. Another dash of polar weather will come behind these reactionary storms, bringing frost and freezing for several days.

A Mercury disturbance sets in about the 21st, embracing a regular storm period from 23d to 27th. Some of the most active storms of the month are probably at this period and many sections that have suffered for fall rains will find relief about this time. The storm diagram shows that the Vulcan and Mercury periods are central on the 24th and 25th, and not far from those central dates look for general storms, attended by snow or rain in many parts. A genuine November cold wave will get in its work as a sequel to those storms, reaching all parts of the country with greater or less intensity before the close of the month.

Will call him into his Presence.

Judge Cass, of the Superior court, has announced that he will order the editor of the Hammond News to appear before him, and answer to the charge of contempt of court. It is alleged that he published an article criticizing the judge in his official capacity.

Andersonville Ex-Prisoner Testifies.

O. M. Whittier, advance agent for Ralph O. Bates is in the city to-day and has about completed arrangements with the Y. P. C. U., for a lecture to be given Saturday night at the U. B. church.

Mr. Bates had nineteen months experience in southern war prisons ending with his escape from Andersonville in company with Dick King. His stories of the horrors of southern prison life during the rebellion are most graphically told, his own experiences, which were more strange and wonderful than any creation on similar lines, being the foundation.

Just a Difference of Opinion.

The men who tortured the colored man, Ellis, in Tennessee, Oct. 16, were just as guilty of crime as he was. —Laporte Herald.

That's putting it a little too strong. They were not criminals, but doubtless good men, the most of them, who allowed their hot-headed desires for justice to get the better of their judgment. Lynching is a bad thing but who would want to see good men treated as criminals on account of this brute of a negro? —Walkerton Independent.

We heartily endorse the Independent's opinion. —North Liberty News.

Murder is murder, whether committed by black or white. No barbarian or cannibal could have devised a more fiendish torture for the victim than did those men, who put to death the negro. While there is no doubt that he deserved death, and admitting he secured his just deserts; a number of men who, not only by their intelligence and position in the community they lived, believed in law and good order, did take their pocket-knives, so we are informed, and cut the fingers of this negro from off his hands, and in other ways, unmentionable, cut and slashed his quivering flesh while his agonizing appeals to kill him were answered by fiendish laughter. No gentlemen, negro or no negro, it was murder in its most diabolical form. Call things by their right name. Do not simply, owing to the color of skin try to excuse men for committing a brutal act, fit only for past ages when the wheel and rack were in existence.

Of Considerable Interest.

There are in every community a class of people who are hard to convince regarding the benefits to be derived from manufacturing enterprises, and yet if the matter was presented to them in a manner comprehensive, they would see the benefit in its true light. What calls forth these remarks, is the contemplation of the pay roll of the Indiana Novelty Works for the past month. Last Saturday was pay day at that growing institution, and $7,100 was the amount paid out for labor during the preceding month. To an observing man, the benefits can readily be seen. This amount, the greater portion of which is distributed throughout the different channels of trade in our city, and to a degree, every man within the corporate limits of Plymouth derives a benefit of this large sum of money.

We are truly glad to be able to chronicle the successful achievement of this magnificent enterprise in our city. It is but a short time ago when the Indiana Novelty Works was doing a very small business. To-day they are filling orders for their popular rim, from Australia, France, England, and almost every foreign country.

In a Nut Shell.

The Newaygo, (Minn.) News propounds this question: "Do you know what your mouth is?" and then proceeds thusly: "It is the front door of your face. It is the aperture to the cold-storage room of your anatomy. Some mouths look like peaches and cream, and some like a hole chopped in a brick wall to admit a new door or window. The mouth is a hot bed of toothaches, the bungalow of oratory and the baby's crowning glory. It is the crimson aisle to your liver. It is patriotism's fountainhead and a tool-chest for pie. Without it the politician would be a wanderer on the face of the earth, and the cornetist would go down to an unhonored grave. It is the grocer's friend, the orator's pride, the dentist's hope and the poor man's drawback. It puts some men on the rostrum and some men in jail. It is temptation's lunch counter when attached to a maiden and a tobaccoist's friend when attached to a man."

Has a Broken Neck.

A remarkable case happened at Green Bay, Wis., where Theo. Van Rings lived eight weeks with a broken neck! —Ex.

We know a man who lived for a number of years at Joliet, Ill., who had, when last seen by us, lived several years with a broken neck. He wore an iron brace, which kept his head in an upright position.

Will She?

When the coming women gets here will she offer up her seat; will she offer her umbrella, when there is rain, snow or sleet; will she bait our fishing hook; will she help us in a wagon; will she step into the water that we dry may cross the brook; will she seize rail and rescue when a bully chases us; will she push the wheezy mower every eve and make a fuss; will she run the locomotive, shovel coal and handle brakes; will she level mount and forest, carry bitters for the snakes; will she march to bloody battle, snap her fingers at the Turks? Well I guess not; she will merely hide behind her husband's skirts.
